3. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

a. Purpose

Nasdaq is filing this amendment to SR-NASDAQ-2019-049, which was published for comment by the Commission on June 18, 2019,⁴ in order to: provide additional clarification and justification in support of the proposed rule change; delete and revise certain language in the Original Proposal; and to clarify that the proposed rule change to Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) will not affect the additional independence criteria for audit committee members set forth in Listing Rule 5605(c)(2), which incorporate the independence requirements of SEC Rule 10A-3 promulgated under the Act.⁵ This amendment supersedes and replaces the Original Proposal in its entirety.

Nasdaq is proposing to modify the definition of a “Family Member” for purposes of director independence under Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) to exclude domestic employees who share the director’s home and stepchildren from the list of relationships that always preclude a board from finding that a director is independent.

Listing Rule 5605(a) provides a list of certain relationships that preclude a board from finding that a director is independent (the “Bright-line Independence Test”). These objective measures provide transparency to investors and companies, facilitate uniform application of the rules, and ease administration. Nasdaq’s rules preclude a director from being considered independent if the director has a Family Member who (i) accepted any compensation from the Company in excess of $120,000 during any period of twelve consecutive months within the three years preceding the determination of independence (with certain exceptions)⁶; (ii) is, a partner in, or a controlling Shareholder or an Executive Officer of, any organization to which the Company made, or from which the Company received, payments for property or services in the current or any of the past three fiscal years that exceed 5% of the recipient’s consolidated gross revenues for that year, or $200,000, whichever is more (with certain exceptions)⁷; (iii) is, employed as an Executive Officer of another entity where at any time during the past three years any of the Executive Officers of the Company served on the compensation committee of such other entity⁸; or (iv) is, a current partner of the Company's outside auditor, or was a partner or employee of the Company's outside auditor who worked on the Company's audit at any time during any of the past three years.⁹ Nasdaq's rules also preclude a director from being considered independent if such director is a Family Member of an individual who is, or at any time during the past three years was, employed by the Company as an Executive Officer.¹⁰

Currently, for purposes of Nasdaq Rules, Family Member means a person's spouse, parents, children and siblings, whether by blood, marriage or adoption, or anyone residing in such person's home.¹¹ This definition includes stepchildren, as they are "children by... marriage."

Proposed Change

Nasdaq proposes to define a Family Member to mean a person's spouse, parents, children, siblings, mothers and fathers-in-law, sons and daughters-in-law, brothers and sisters-in-law, and anyone (other than domestic employees) who shares such person's home. Nasdaq also proposes to interpret the term "children" to exclude stepchildren.

⁷ Listing Rule 5605(a)(2)(D).

⁸ Listing Rule 5605(a)(2)(E).

⁹ Listing Rule 5605(a)(2)(F).

¹⁰ Listing Rule 5605(a)(2)(C).

¹¹ Listing Rule 5605(a)(2).

Over time, Nasdaq has concluded, based on feedback from its listed companies and their legal counsel, that inclusion of stepchildren in the definition of a Family Member makes the definition over-inclusive. The Bright-line Independence Test is intended to identify relationships that are likely to interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the director's responsibilities. In that regard Nasdaq believes that a director's relationship with their stepchildren may or may not interfere with the director's exercise of independent judgment based on the particular facts and circumstances of the situation. If a stepchild has been a dependent of a director or was a part of the director's household since being a minor, the director's relationship with that stepchild is likely to be similar to that with a biological child. However, if the director marries a person who has an adult child, the director never acted in any capacity as a parent of this stepchild, and the stepchild never shared the director's household, then the director and stepchild are likely to have an attenuated relationship that is unlike the relationship of a parent and a child. Because the determination as to whether such relationship is likely to interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the director's responsibilities is based on facts and circumstances, Nasdaq believes a company's board is in the best position to make such a determination. Accordingly, Nasdaq believes that a stepchild relationship should not preclude a director from being considered independent in all circumstances.

In addition, Nasdaq believes that the proposed change would align its definition of a Family Member with the comparable definition of an immediate family member of the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”).¹² Nasdaq has heard from its listed companies and their legal counsel that the current situation, where each market has a different definition, complicates the preparation by listed companies of director and officer questionnaires that the companies need in order to analyze director independence. In particular, this creates an added and unnecessary burden when a company transfers its listing from one national securities exchange to another. In such case, a director may have already filled out an annual questionnaire based on the prior listing exchange’s definition of a family member, but need to answer additional questions because the definition of the exchange the listing is transferred to is phrased differently.

Nasdaq is also proposing to modify the definition of a “Family Member” for purposes of director independence under Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) to exclude domestic employees who share a director’s home. Nasdaq believes that the definition of a Family Member should not include a domestic employee who shares a director’s home because this definition is intended to capture familial, not commercial, relationships.

¹² Prior to 2002, the Nasdaq definition of a Family Member was substantially identical to the NYSE definition of an “immediate family member” in Section 303A.02 of the NYSE Listed Company Manual. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 42231 (December 14, 1999), 64 FR 71523 (December 21, 1999). In October 2002, the NASD, through its subsidiary, The Nasdaq Stock Market, Inc., filed with the Commission a proposed rule change to amend NASD Rules to modify requirements relating to board independence and independent committees. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 47516 (March 17, 2003), 68 FR 14451 (March 25, 2003) (SR-NASD-2002-141) (“Nasdaq Independent Director Proposal”). At about the same time, NYSE proposed similar changes to its listing standards. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 47672 (April 11, 2003) 68 FR 19051 (April 17, 2003) (“NYSE Corporate Governance Proposal”). The Commission discussed and approved both the Nasdaq Independent Director Proposal and the NYSE Corporate Governance Proposal in one order (the “2003 Order”). See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 48745 (November 4, 2003), 68 FR 64154 (November 12, 2003). This proposed rule change amends the definition of a Family Member approved by the Commission in the 2003 Order.

Accordingly, Nasdaq is proposing to modify the definition of a Family Member for purposes of director independence under Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) to mean a person's spouse, parents, children, siblings, mothers and fathers-in-law, sons and daughters-in-law, brothers and sisters-in-law, and anyone (other than domestic employees) who shares such person's home. This definition is identical to NYSE's definition of an immediate family member.¹³

Additionally, Nasdaq notes that the proposed rule change to Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) will not affect the additional independence criteria for audit committee members set forth in Listing Rule 5605(c)(2), which incorporate the independence requirements of SEC Rule 10A-3.¹⁴

Notwithstanding these changes, Nasdaq notes that a company's board must, under Listing Rules 5605(a)(2) and IM-5605, affirmatively determine that no relationship exists that would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the director's responsibilities. Nasdaq expects that listed companies' boards will continue to elicit through director and officer questionnaires the information necessary for the boards to make such determinations, which will need to include questions about stepchild relationships. Nasdaq believes that it is appropriate for the board to review a potential relationship between a director and a domestic employee or a stepchild of the director under such facts and circumstances test.

b. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,¹⁵ in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,¹⁶ in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general to protect investors and the public interest, by removing the impediments to a free and open market where a “bright line” independence test prohibits some directors from being deemed independent in circumstances where the relationship with a Family Member is attenuated, non-existent, or commercial in nature. Nasdaq also believes that the proposed rule change is designed to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market by aligning Nasdaq’s and NYSE’s corporate governance requirements more closely, by contrast to the current differently phrased definitions of a Family Member on Nasdaq and an immediate family member on NYSE and inclusion of a domestic employee who shares the director’s home in Nasdaq’s definition of a Family Member, where such differences pose an unnecessary burden on listed companies.

Specifically, Nasdaq Listing Rules currently prohibit a director from being deemed independent in certain circumstances by including stepchildren of the director’s spouse in the definition of a Family Member, as described in more detail above. The rule also prohibits a domestic employee who shares the director's home from being deemed independent by including such employee in the definition of a Family Member.

¹⁵ 15 U.S.C. 78f(b).

Independent directors over time became a linchpin in the American corporate governance. It is important for investors to have confidence that individuals serving as independent directors do not have a relationship with the listed company that would impair their independence. As the importance of independent directors for listed companies increased, so did the directors' workload and the risk of litigation. In this environment, Nasdaq believes that it is appropriate not to prohibit directors from being considered independent based on certain commercial or attenuated familial relationships, but instead allow the board to review such a relationship and affirmatively determine a relationship exists that would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the director's responsibilities.

Additionally, Nasdaq notes that the proposed rule change to Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) will not affect the additional independence criteria for audit committee members set forth in Listing Rule 5605(c)(2), which incorporate the independence requirements of SEC Rule 10A-3.¹⁷

¹⁷ Listing Rule 5605(c)(2) requires that each Company must have, and certify that it has and will continue to have, an audit committee of at least three members, each of whom must, among other requirements, meet the criteria for independence set forth in Rule 10A-3(b)(1) under the Act, in addition to the requirements of Listing Rule 5605(a)(2). See also Listing Rule IM-5605-4 (Audit Committee Composition).

Following the proposed rule change, Nasdaq's definition of the Family Member will become identical with the NYSE's definition of an "immediate family member," the definition that the Commission has previously approved.¹⁸

4. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The proposed rule change would eliminate requirements that burden issuers without an offsetting benefit in protecting shareholders. All listed companies would be affected in the same manner by these changes. As such, these changes are neither intended to, nor expected to, impose any burden on competition.

5. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

No written comments were either solicited or received.

In its filing with the Commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Nasdaq is filing this amendment to SR-NASDAQ-2019-049, which was published for comment by the Commission on June 18, 2019,⁴ in order to: provide additional clarification and justification in support of the proposed rule change; delete and revise certain language in the Original Proposal; and to clarify that the proposed rule change to Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) will not affect the additional independence criteria for audit committee members set forth in Listing Rule 5605(c)(2), which incorporate the independence requirements of SEC Rule 10A-3 promulgated under the Act.⁵ This amendment supersedes and replaces the Original Proposal in its entirety.

Nasdaq is proposing to modify the definition of a "Family Member" for purposes of director independence under Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) to exclude domestic employees who share the director's home and stepchildren from the list of relationships that always preclude a board from finding that a director is independent.

residing in such person's home.¹¹ This definition includes stepchildren, as they are "children by... marriage."

Proposed Change

Nasdaq proposes to define a Family Member to mean a person's spouse, parents, children, siblings, mothers and fathers-in-law, sons and daughters-in-law, brothers and sisters-in-law, and anyone (other than domestic employees) who shares such person's home. Nasdaq also proposes to interpret the term "children" to exclude stepchildren.

This proposed rule change amends the definition of a Family Member approved by the Commission in the 2003 Order.

of a family member, but need to answer additional questions because the definition of the exchange the listing is transferred to is phrased differently.

Nasdaq is also proposing to modify the definition of a “Family Member” for purposes of director independence under Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) to exclude domestic employees who share a director’s home. Nasdaq believes that the definition of a Family Member should not include a domestic employee who shares a director’s home because this definition is intended to capture familial, not commercial, relationships.

Accordingly, Nasdaq is proposing to modify the definition of a Family Member for purposes of director independence under Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) to mean a person’s spouse, parents, children, siblings, mothers and fathers-in-law, sons and daughters-in-law, brothers and sisters-in-law, and anyone (other than domestic employees) who shares such person’s home. This definition is identical to NYSE’s definition of an immediate family member.¹³

Additionally, Nasdaq notes that the proposed rule change to Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) will not affect the additional independence criteria for audit committee members set forth in Listing Rule 5605(c)(2), which incorporate the independence requirements of SEC Rule 10A-3.¹⁴

¹⁴ Listing Rule 5605(c)(2) requires that each Company must have, and certify that it has and will continue to have, an audit committee of at least three members, each of whom must, among other requirements, meet the criteria for independence set forth in Rule 10A-3(b)(1) under the Act, in addition to the requirements of Listing Rule 5605(a)(2). See also Listing Rule IM-5605-4 (Audit Committee Composition).

Notwithstanding these changes, Nasdaq notes that a company's board must, under Listing Rules 5605(a)(2) and IM-5605, affirmatively determine that no relationship exists that would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the director's responsibilities. Nasdaq expects that listed companies' boards will continue to elicit through director and officer questionnaires the information necessary for the boards to make such determinations, which will need to include questions about stepchild relationships. Nasdaq believes that it is appropriate for the board to review a potential relationship between a director and a domestic employee or a stepchild of the director under such facts and circumstances test.

2. Statutory Basis

The Exchange believes that its proposal is consistent with Section 6(b) of the Act,¹⁵ in general, and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,¹⁶ in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and, in general to protect investors and the public interest, by removing the impediments to a free and open market where a "bright line" independence test prohibits some directors from being deemed independent in circumstances where the relationship with a Family Member is attenuated, non-existent, or commercial in nature. Nasdaq also believes that the proposed rule change is designed to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market by aligning Nasdaq's and NYSE's corporate governance requirements more closely, by contrast to the current differently phrased definitions of a Family Member on Nasdaq and an immediate family member on NYSE and inclusion of a domestic employee who shares the director's home in Nasdaq's definition of a Family Member, where such differences pose an unnecessary burden on listed companies.

Specifically, Nasdaq Listing Rules currently prohibit a director from being deemed independent in certain circumstances by including stepchildren of the director's spouse in the definition of a Family Member, as described in more detail above. The rule also prohibits a domestic employee who shares the director's home from being deemed independent by including such employee in the definition of a Family Member.

Independent directors over time became a linchpin in the American corporate governance. It is important for investors to have confidence that individuals serving as independent directors do not have a relationship with the listed company that would impair their independence. As the importance of independent directors for listed companies increased, so did the directors' workload and the risk of litigation. In this environment, Nasdaq believes that it is appropriate not to prohibit directors from being considered independent based on certain commercial or attenuated familial relationships, but instead allow the board to review such a relationship and affirmatively determine a relationship exists that would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the director's responsibilities.

Additionally, Nasdaq notes that the proposed rule change to Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) will not affect the additional independence criteria for audit committee members set forth in Listing Rule 5605(c)(2), which incorporate the independence requirements of SEC Rule 10A-3.¹⁷

Following the proposed rule change, Nasdaq's definition of the Family Member will become identical with the NYSE's definition of an "immediate family member," the definition that the Commission has previously approved.¹⁸

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange does not believe that the proposed rule change will impose any burden on competition not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. The proposed rule change would eliminate requirements that burden issuers without an offsetting benefit in protecting shareholders. All listed companies would be affected in the same manner by these changes. As such, these changes are neither intended to, nor expected to, impose any burden on competition.
